PERGAMON

International Journal of Educational Research 33 (2000) IV–IX

International Journal of Educational Research

www.elsevier.com/locate/ijedures

Subject index

Academic ability, relating learning to individual differences 212–242
Action control 488
Active learning 375, 397
African languages 335
Ambivalent transfer 631
Analogical reasoning 564
  transfer 566, 571, 573, 647
Appraisals, formal and informal learning contexts 538–541
Apprenticeship, expertise acquisition 361
Appropriate transfer 629
Aspirations 502
Attention deficit disorder (ADD) 2
Attention deficit hyperactive disorder (ADHD) 2, 3, 6–11, 66, 75, 82–90
Attentive-inattentive behaviours, literacy achievement 1–16
  analytic methods 17–30
  epistemological and methodological issues 81–92
  fitting conditional models 31–48
  fitting multi-level, non-recursive structural equation models 49–64
  implications of findings 65–80
Auditory split-attention principle 619
Australian Temperament Project 11
Austria, attitudes about sexuality 674
Authentic assessment 365, 414
Autobiographical memory, gender-related situations 673–683

Background knowledge 159 differences in 234–237
  learning ability 216–221
Basic interpersonal communicative skills (BICS) 321
Behaviour problems, reading difficulties 1–16
  analytic methods 17–30
  epistemological and methodological issues 81–92
  fitting conditional models 31–48
  fitting multi-level, non-recursive structural equation models 49–64
  implications of findings 65–80
Behavioural management 76, 88
Behaviourism 390, 396
Belgium
  concentration schools 267–280
  cultural hybridism in bicultural and trilingual adolescents 317–325
  homogenization in Muslim education 283–293
  Moroccan adolescents 303–315
  Polish and Romany Gypsy pupils 295–302
  schools and interethnic hybridism 341–352
  socio-ethnic stratification 263–266

Chunking principle 620
Classroom, learning how to learn 141–145, 242–250
  concept-files 148
  data 146
  individual differences in ability 212–242
  internalization 179–188
  knowledge acquisition 163–172, 189–212
  model 150
  social relationships 225
  working memory 163–172
Classroom motivation, self-regulation 475
Classroom research, literacy underachievement and inattentive behaviours 17–30
  models 31–48, 49–64
Classroom teaching, video data 717–723
  vPrism™ 725–733
Cognitive academic language proficiency (CALP) 321
Cognitive complexity, content analysis of an object sorting test 687–696
Cognitive learning strategies 460
Cognitive predictors, goal setting and task performance 499–512
Cognitive processes, internalization 172–188
Cognitive theory 391
  multimedia learning 612

PII: S0883-0355(00)00002-1

Comprehension, motivational vulnerability, intervention 519, 520, 522
Computer aided content analysis 668, 691, 700, 703, 704, 706-714, 725–733
Computer-based learning environment, transfer 592–598
Concentration schools 264
  Brussels 267–280
Concept-files, learning outcomes 148, 153
Concept mapping 380, 431–434
Conceptions of learning 379, 387, 395–407, 417–422
Conceptual change 367–370, 375, 377, 401–406, 418–424
Confucian Heritage Culture students, transfer of learning 627 Contructivism
  assessment of learning 414
  conceptual change 401–408, 420
  knowledge acquisition 363–374
  learning environments 365
  learning outcomes 374-377, 385–387, 388, 392
  multimedia aids in learning 611, 615–622
CONTACT strategy 583–584
Content analysis 657 computer-aided 688
  empirical social research 659–669
  gender-specific situations, cultural differences 673–683
  large scale video systems using vPrism™ 725–733 object sorting test of cognitive complexity 687–696 perceptions of university academic systems 699–714 video data on classroom teaching 717–723
Contexts, transfer of learning 627, 638, 645
Cooperative groups, ability differences 214
Cramming 425
Creolization 264, 325
Cross cultural comparison
  gender-related situations 673–683
TIMSS Videotape Classroom study 721, 723, 725
Cross-validation, behaviour problems and student learning 24
Cultural-educational contexts, knowledge transfer 625–640, 646
Cultural hybridization 260
  Brussels and Cape Towm 263–266
  school as a structuring force 341–352
  trilingually and biculturally scholarized adolescents in Brussels 317–325
Culture, autobiographical memories of gender-related situations 673–683
Declarative knowledge 359
Decontextualized instructioin 570
Domain-specific learning, transfer 565, 571

Early Literacy Research Project (ELRP) 19, 20, 33, 38–43, 47, 52, 55, 67, 77, 119, 137
Economics, instructional means to overcome transfer problems 592
Elaboration guidance 601–604
Elaboration strategies 460
ELTIC, multilingual learning 332, 334
Emotions, training transfer 490, 494, 496
Empirical content analysis 662–664
English profiles 131–136
Error patterns, domain-specific analogy problems 568
Ethnic homogenization 260
  concentration schools in Brussels 267–280
  Moroccan adolescents in Brussels 303–315
  Muslim education in Brussels 283–293
  schools as a structuring force 341–352
  South Africa 327–338
Ethnic self-categorization 324
Example elaboration 599–604
Experential learning 360, 391, 399
Expertise, higher education 357–434 acquisition 360
  constructivism 363–374, 392–408
  fostering 424
  product of education 362
  research methods 374–383, 412–424
  subjective learning experiences 383, 417
  traditional examination assessment 408
  writing 372
Expert knowledge 359

Fluid intelligence 503, 505, 510
Formal knowledge 359
Formal learning 534
  appraisal processes 538
  attributes 536

Gender
  cultural differences in autobiographical memories 673–683
  literacy 33, 38–41, 47
Germany, university ranking, content analysis 699–714
Goals, self-regulated learning 452, 466, 471–484, 499–512, 538, 541, 545
Group activities, internalization 187
Groups
  ability differences 214
  social relationships 225

Guided example elaboration 598, 605
Guided problem solving 594
  transfer 595
Guilt, Moroccan adolescents in Belgium 305–315
Gypsy children, schooling 299–301

Hermeneutic content analysis 660–662
Higher education
  changing expertise 357
  constructivist and traditional learning environments 357–343
Home, literacy achievement 79
Hyperactivity, reading difficulties 12, 82–90
Hyphenatization 264, 325

Immigrants 259, 263
  Belgium 295–302
  concentration schools 267–280
  Moroccans 305–315
  Muslim education 283–293
  Polish and Romany Gypsy pupils 295–302
Individual differences in ability, classroom experiences 212–242
Informal learning
  appraisal processes 538
  attributes 536
  model of dynamics 539
  self-regulation 533–542
Information processing 400
In-service education and training (INSET), multilingual learning, South Africa 332, 336
Instruction, transfer problems in economics 591–606
Instructional enabling 569
Intention memory, self-control and self-regulation 489, 493
Intentionality 476–479
Interactionism 390
Interest, classroom activities 237
Intermediate experts, transfer 592
Internalization 143, 144, 172, 243–246
  characteristics 178
  in the classroom 179–188
  Piaget's theory 173–175
  self-regulated learning 474
  Vygotsky's theory 175–176
  what happens 176–178
Intervention, motivational vulnerability 519, 521–529
INTEXT 691
Islam, ethnic homogenization in Brussels 283–293

JEANS FACTORY 592–594
Journal writing 371

Knowledge
  expert 358, 424
  integration 427
Knowledge acquisition
  classroom experiences 142, 163–172, 242–250
  individual differences in ability 212–242
  internalization 172–188
  model of student learning 150
  processes involved 189–212
  working memory 163–172
  constructivism 363–374
Knowledge-building discourse 363, 425
Knowledge structures 161
Knowledge-telling, writing 371, 372
Knowledge-transforming, writing 371, 372, 375

LACORD 711
Language
  cultural hybridism, Belgium 317–325
  South Africa 327–338
Language of learning and teaching 328, 336
Latent class analysis (LCA), content analysis 711 Learning
  conceptual change 367
  constructivism 364
  model of 150
  multimedia aids 611–622
  writing as a tool 370–373
Learning across cultures, transfer 625–640
Learning communities 247–248
Learning difficulties behaviour problems 3–16
  self-regulation 516
Learning environments
  formal and informal 534, 537–542
  self-regulated learning 453
  transfer 563, 569, 571, 578, 584
  across cultures 625–622
  multimedia 611–622
Learning outcomes, constructivist and traditional group 383–412, 414–416
Learning processes
  self-regulated learning 449
  types 190-212
Learning strategies, self-regulatory 460, 547
Learning styles 399, 405
  self-regulated learning 447
Learning to learn, classroom experiences 141, 242–250
  concept-files 148
  data 146
  individual differences in ability 212–242
  knowledge acquisition 163–172, 189–212
  working memory 163–173

Lifelong learning 391, 397
Literacy, inattentive behaviours 1–16
  analytic methods 17030
  epistemological and methodological issues 81–92
  fitting conditional models 31–48
  fitting multi-level, non-recursive structural equation models 49–64
  implications of findings 65–80

Management training transfer 487
  self-regulation and self-control 489–496
Mastery goal orientation, self-regulated learning 466, 467
Mathematics, TIMSS Videotape Classroom study 721–723
  vPrism™ 725–733 Memory 400
  classroom experiences 163–172, l80, 242
  gender-specific situations, cultural differences 673–683
  model of student learning 151, 154–162
  processes of knowledge acquisition 189–212
  strategies, transfer of learning 632
Memory Updating Task 504
Mental processes 210
Mentioning versus teaching 568
Metacognition 449
  self-regulated learning 460, 516, 519, 526
Metacognitive awareness 209
Mind 245
Minoriry groups, perception of majority group 342
Model of domain learning 565
Moroccans
  adolescents in Belgium 303–315
  concentration schools in Belgium 267–280
Mother-tongue education, South Africa 327
Motivation 237, 404
  role in self-regulated learning 459–469, 473, 457–482, 515–531
  transfer of learning 629
Motivational predictors, goal setting and task performance 499–512
Motivational vulnerability, educational interventions 515–529
Multilingualism
  Brussels 317–325
  Cape Town 327–338
Multimedia learning, problem-solving transfer 611–622
Multiple learning contexts 593
  transfer 595,605
Muslims, Brussels, ethnic homogenization 283–293

Neuropsychology, self-regulation of learning 500–512

Object sorting test, content analysis 687–696
Orientations 448
  self-regulated learning 466, 472, 546
Organizational strategies 460

Paradoxes, transfer of learning 579
Parents, literacy achievement 79
Personality, learning 390
Phenomenographic studies of conceptions 367, 369, 378, 381, 395, 396, 416, 417
Piecemeal learning 570, 572
Polish migrants, schooling 297–299
Practical knowledge 359, 427
Prior knowledge
  knowledge acquisition 196, 406
  transfer 578–580, 582, 651
Problem-based learning 427
Problem solving, expert knowledge 362
Problem-solving transfer, multimedia aids 611–622
Procedural knowledge 359
Productivity 647
Professional development program, early literacy 20, 77, 78
Proficiency 566
Profiles of achievement 566
Programming, self-regulation 500
Project for the study of alternative education in South Africa (PRAESA) 332, 334
Psycho-behavioural enquiry 18, 19, 70, 71, 82

Qualitative and quantitative analysis 659–669
  classroom teaching 717–723

Ranking, universities 700
Reading Activity at Home 79
Reading bands 131–136
Reading comprehension, motivational vulnerability, intervention 519, 520, 522
Reading difficulties, attention-deficit behaviours 10, 12
Real-life learning settings, transfer 626, 637
Regulation of learning 449–451
  goals 473
  strategies 461
  students with learning difficulties 516
Rehearsal strategies 460
Religious education, Belgium 290

Resource management 462
Reward, self-regulated learning 474, 490
Romanian Gypsies, in Belgium, schooling 299–301
Rowe Behavioural Rating Inventories 22, 23, 27, 66, 121–128

Scaffolding 525
Self-categorization 349
  bicultural and trilingual adolescents in Brussels 317–325 Self-control 488
  training transfer 489–496
Self-efficacy beliefs 463, 465
  self-regulated learning 467
Self-perception measures 503
Self-regulated learning 445
  cyclical model 549, 550
  formal and informal learning 533–542
  goals 452, 466, 471–484, 545
  interactive view 545–550
  learning environments 453
  learning strategies 460
  learning styles 448–451, 547
  meaning of 446
  models 459, 474
  motivation 462-469, 475–482
  motivational and cognitive predictors of goal setting and task performance 499–512
  motivational vulnerability, educational interventions 515–529
  self-control and management training transfer 487–496 self-monitoring 549
  social processes 548
  three-layered model 447, 449
Self-regulative knowledge 359, 427
Self-talk 182–184
Sexuality, cultural differences in attitudes 674–683
Situated learning 366
Social class, learning 389
Social processes
  internalization 175–176
  knowledge acquisition 162, 247
  self-regulated learning 548
  types of learning processes/activities 190–212
Social relationships in the classroom 225–234
Social research, content analysis 659
Sociocultural appropriateness, knowledge transfer 626, 637–639, 646, 649
Socio-ethnic stratification 263–266, 337, 346
  concentration schools in Brussels 267–280
SOLO taxonomy 382, 403, 405, 410, 415, 416, 423
South Africa
  multilingualism and education 327–338
  schools and interethnic hybridism 341–352
  socio-ethnic stratification 263–266, 337
Spatial continuity principle 617, 621
Strategies, self-regulated learning 478–482
Structural equation modeling, inattentive behaviours and literacy 12, 30, 44, 49–64, 71
Subjective learning experiences 378, 383, 417
Success, training transfer 490, 494

Tacit knowledge, transfer 580
Task value beliefs, self-regulated learning 465, 467
Teacher professional development program, early literacy 20, 77, 78
Teacher-student behaviours, student learning 150, 184
Teachers, ADHD 75, 77
Teaching for transfer 564, 568
Temporal continuity principle 618
TEXTPACK 703, 704, 706
Thematic apperception test 308
Thinking 399
TIMSS, videotape classroom study 721–723
  vPrism™ 725–733
Traditional examination assessment 408, 414
Transfer 555-558, 561, 577
  ambivalent 631
  analogical 647
  appropriate 629
  computer-based learning 593–598
  difficult 633
  failure of 645, 646, 651, 652
  generalizations 562–565
  identifying the seeds of 565–568
  inappropriate 636
  instructional barriers to 568–570
  instructional means to overcome problems 591–606 learning across cultures 625–640
  multimedia learning 611–622
  near and far 581, 585, 595, 601
  nurturing 571-573
  paradoxes 579–582
  prior knowledge 578–580, 582
  self-regulation and self-control 489–496
  sociocultural appropriateness 626, 637–639, 646, 649 terminology 647
  training for 487, 563
  work 585–587
  worked-out examples 598–604, 606
Transformative learning 361
Turks, concentration schools in Belgium 267–280

Underachievement, behaviour problems 1–16
analytic methods 17–30
epistemological and methodological issues 81–92
fitting conditional models 31–48
fitting multi-level, non-recursive structural equation models 49–64gimplications of findings 65–80
Understanding, internalization 170
University
constructive learning 366
faculty members' and students' perceptions, content analysis 669–714 fostering expert knowledge 424
USA, attitudes about sexuality 674

Verbal/visual information, multimedia learning 612–622
Victorian quality schools project (VQSP) 24, 33, 38–43, 47, 53–56, 60, 68, 128–130, 137
Video data
classroom teaching 717–723
vPrism™ 725–733
Visual split-attention principle 619
Volition 488
training transfer 491–496
vPrism™ 725–733

Wisconsin card-sorting test 505, 509
Word Problem solving, motivational vulnerability, intervention 520, 523
Work, learning for transfer to 585
Worked-out examples 598–604
Working memory
classroom experiences 163–172, 180, 242
model of student learning 151, 154–162
processes of knowledge acquisition 189–212
Writing, tool for learning 370–373, 375, 417

Youth culture 321

UMI

SHOULD READ 1999.